

Two AMN Healthcare Executives Named as Staffing Industry's Most Influential Leaders for 2023

March 28, 2023

DALLAS, March 28, 2023 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Amid the recent growth and turbulence in the staffing industry, two AMN Healthcare executives stood out last year as "steadfast stewards," according to Staffing Industry Analysts, which named Denise Jackson, Chief Legal Officer and Corporate Secretary, and James Taylor, Group President and Chief Operating Officer, Physician & Leadership Solutions, to the 2023 SIA Staffing 100 North America.

The annual SIA Staffing 100 list recognizes the most influential staffing leaders throughout North America who helped their businesses succeed in the past year.

"AMN Healthcare has always worked hard to excel as an ethical company and as an industry force in building a society where equality is the norm, equity is achieved and inclusion is universal," Jackson said. "Being named to SIA Staffing 100 recognizes the active engagement of our entire team to build and maintain a responsible company that delivers sustainable value for all stakeholders."

For 22 years, Denise Jackson has been an integral member of the AMN Healthcare Executive Management team that has shaped and executed the company's strategy to propel its growth from a $250M privately held travel nurse staffing company to the leading publicly traded total talent solutions company. As the Chief Legal Officer and Corporate Secretary, Denise Jackson leads the legal, governance, risk management and government affairs functions for AMN Healthcare, and is also accountable for the development of AMN's ESG strategy, including execution of its vision to support a healthy, just and equitable society where all can thrive.

"The AMN dedication to our clients radiates through all our services -- and in how we listen closely to customers' needs and deliver on our commitments," Taylor said. "The SIA 100 recognition is testament to the extremely high level of customer service that is the hallmark of our company."

As group president and COO, physician and leadership solutions for AMN Healthcare Services, James Taylor heads physician staffing and placement services as well as executive search for leaders who improve clinical, financial and operational performance at healthcare organizations. He joined AMN Healthcare in 2021, bringing a strong background of healthcare leadership, strategic insight and diverse experiences.
