

AMN Healthcare Named as One of America's Most Responsible Companies for 2022

February 2, 2022

DALLAS--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- For the third year in a row, AMN Healthcare (NYSE: AMN) has been named one of the country's most responsible companies by Newsweek and Statista Action for its commitment and action to promote social justice, advance corporate accountability and transparency, and support diverse, equitable, and inclusive communities.

"The entire team at AMN Healthcare strongly believes that corporations can and should be powerful forces for positive change in our local, national, and global communities to benefit the lives of all people," said AMN Healthcare Chief Executive Officer Susan Salka. "We are thrilled that our company's shared efforts have now received this national ranking three years in a row. The AMN team will continue to step up our strategic action that continues to make a positive difference in the world."

The 2022 ranking of America's Most Responsible Companies is based on a holistic view of corporate responsibility that considers the three areas of ESG -- environment, social and corporate governance. Included in the rankings was a survey among over 11,000 U.S. residents about on how the company's corporate social responsibility activities are publicly perceived. The list of top performing companies in corporate social responsibility in the United States is developed by Newsweek, a premier news magazine, and Statista, which develops and publishes worldwide established industry rankings and company listings.

America's Most Responsible Companies 2022 ranking reflects AMN's total efforts to advance diversity, equity, equality, and inclusion in the company and community, while proactively engaging in a wide range of important causes through investment and team member participation. AMN also places a very high priority on transparency and ethical practices in corporate governance.
